Sale Representative

City Plantation

State FL

Description Have you experienced a taste of sales, but motivated to find something that will provide endless growth and will compensate you the harder you work?

The Opportunity

At Caduceus Banc, we are a learning organization. Whether you're just starting with our firm or one of our many tenured professionals, the learning process never ends. Our sales position is designed to give you true growth potential that will ultimately discover your talents and create your career path. Over time, you will have opportunities to learn different areas of business development, business credit and financing solutions in the healthcare industry. Your passion and your drive to be successful is what ultimately will set the pace at how quickly these opportunities present themselves.

This is a true sales position that will compensate based on results. Our firm invests heavily in our sales teams by providing the tools, support, and training, however, we cannot provide the drive and passion that must lie within you.

Our sales team is extremely energetic, fast paced, and they never settle for just reaching their goals. Are you up for the challenge?
